

The Truth About Distressed And Repossessed Property: A Huge Risk Or A Winning Investment?

With large discounts available, this report contains insider information on where to find and how to safely buy distressed and repossessed property.

Kingston upon Thames, UK – 16 July, 2009 – The current world economic conditions have caused a marked slowdown in the property market and many sharp investors are turning this to their advantage and looking for discounted properties to add to (or even start) their portfolio.

The question is... how do you find these offers? How do you identify the very best ones? And while there definitely are properties worth snapping up, it's not all plain sailing!

So, to guide buyers away from potential property investment swamps and on to safe ground, Your Home In The Sun Ltd today launches an all-new report "The Truth About Distressed And Repossessed Property".

Andy Rockliffe, Marketing Director explained, "Although it has often been the case that the best distressed/repo properties have never previously been accessible to the general public, there is now a vast source of top-notch, bargain-priced homes and commercial property that is available via our portfolio. Many of these properties have very favourable finance options, too – up to 100% LTV, low interest rates and up to a 40 year loan term."

As explained in the report, buyers can be confident that all the required due diligence has been completed as the finance partner in this programme is a vast (non-US) banking organisation.

The eleven page report (Adobe Acrobat PDF file) is now available for download - free of charge - at <http://www.fabhomesinthesun.com/repos>
